The pathway to this gingerbread mountain retreat winds through a landscaped garden of stones and foliage and ends at a covered stone porch supported by Craftsman-style columns. Trusses in flared gables continue the Craftsman theme and evoke a whimsical effect.

A choice of three doors off the porch leads into the mudroom, dining room, or foyer. Inside, stacked-stone pedestals support the rustic wood posts that define the dining and lodge rooms. This touch, plus hardwood floors, a stacked-stone fireplace, and towering cathedral ceilings, reinforce the feeling of a luxurious mountain resort.

The nearby breakfast nook is set inside a circular turret, offering radial views of the rear property and distant mountain skylines.

The master suite is a homeowner's paradise. A stepped ceiling tops the bedroom, which has its own exit to the rear deck. Enter through double doors to the master bath and experience the luxuries of a private spa: central tub, double vanities, a walk-in shower with two entries and built-in benches, even a personal breakfast bar. Two walk-in closets offer the best in wardrobe accommodations.

Across the home, two exceptional bedrooms and a full hall bath provide for family or guests. For additional guest space, the apartment is spacious enough for long-term visitors, an in-law, or an adult child.
